

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

AN
OF THE LIBRARY.

THIS Society has been established for nearly a century, and is the oldest existing institution of the kind in the city of New-York.*

In 1729, the Rev. Dr. Millington, Rector of Newington, England, by his will, bequeathed his library to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts. By this society the library of Dr. Millington was presented to the corporation of the city, for the use of the clergy and gentlemen of New-York and the neighbouring provinces. From the records of the Common Council it appears that the gift was gratefully received, and provision was made for the reception and use of the books, in compliance with the intention of the donors.

The New-York Society Library was founded in the year 1754, having for its objects, as expressed in the original articles of association, "the use and ornament of the city, and the advantage of an intended college."†

Smith's History of New-York‡ thus adverts to the subject :

"In 1754, a set of gentlemen undertook to carry about a subscription towards raising a public library, and in a few days collected near 600 pounds, which were laid out in purchasing about 700 volumes of new, well-chosen books. Every subscriber, upon payment of five pounds principal, and the annual sum of ten shillings, is entitled to the use of these books,—his right, by the articles, is assignable, and for non-compliance with them may be forfeited. The care of this library is committed to twelve trustees, annually elected by the subscribers, on the last Tuesday of April, who are restricted from making any rules repugnant to the fundamental subscription. This is the beginning of a library which, in process of time, will probably become vastly rich and voluminous, and it would be very proper for the company to have a charter for its security and encouragement."

The library of the corporation above alluded to, appearing to have been mismanaged, and at length entirely disused, the trustees of the New-York Society Library offered to take charge of it, and to deposit their own collection with it, in the City-Hall. This proposal having been acceded to by the corporation, the Institution thenceforward received the appellation of "The City Library," a name by which it was commonly known for a long time.

A good foundation having been thus obtained, the library prospered and increased, and a judicious management and care being superadded, the institution began to assume a character of permanence, and to bid fair to extend its usefulness and to add to the reputation of the city. To effect these desirable results more certainly, it was at length found expedient to apply for an act of incorporation. Accordingly, in 1772, a charter was granted to it by the colonial government. The war of the revolution, however, which soon after occurred, interfered with these pleasing prospects; the city fell into the possession of the enemy; the effect on all our public institutions was more or less disastrous, and to the library nearly fatal.

* A volume of Clarendon's History of the Rebellion, now in the library, indeed bears the mark of the "Publick Library of New-York, 1711;" but this collection is no longer in existence.

An interval of no less than fourteen years, (of which it possesses no record whatever,) here occurs in the history of the society. At length it appears from the minutes, that "the accidents of the late war having nearly destroyed the former library, no meeting of the proprietors for the choice of trustees was held from the last Tuesday in April, 1774, until Saturday, the 21st December, 1788, when a meeting was summoned."

In 1789, the original charter, with all its privileges, was revived by the legislature of this state; the surviving members resumed the payment of their annual dues, an accession of new subscribers was obtained, and the society, undeterred by the loss of its books, commenced almost a new collection.

In 1793, a plot of ground was purchased in Nassau-street, upon which a building was erected of considerable size, and possessing some architectural pretensions, to which, upon its completion, in 1793, the library was removed.

In 1802, the trustees finding the annual payment on the shares inadequate to the expenses of the library, obtained the authority of the legislature to raise them from ten to twenty shillings.

In 1813, the first catalogue of any consequence was published. By this it appears that the collection then comprised about thirteen thousand volumes. At the same time the price of shares, which had been gradually increased from the original subscription of five pounds, was fixed at forty dollars.

In 1819, the annual payments were again advanced and fixed at four dollars.

In 1825, a supplement to the catalogue of 1813, was published, showing a still further increase in the number of volumes, which then amounted to about sixteen thousand.

It was now considered expedient, in order to extend the benefits of the library as far as possible consistently with its safety, to reduce the price of shares to twenty-five dollars.

In 1828, a rigid economy was introduced into the expenditures of the library, the salary of the librarian was reduced, and great vigilance was used in the collection of the annual dues. By these means the trustees were soon enabled to increase the collection by a more liberal purchase of domestic publications, and by valuable importations from abroad.

The sale of shares has been gradually increasing for several years; the present number is four hundred and eighty.

The number of volumes now in the library is about twenty-five thousand.

In 1836, the trustees sold the property in Nassau-street, on very advantageous terms, and purchased a lot in Broadway, where they contemplate the erection of an edifice for the library.

The present location in Chambers-street, which has been hired from the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen, is used as a temporary accommodation for the library.

WHEREAS a public library would be very useful, as well as ornamental to this city, and may be also advantageous to our intended college, we, whose names are hereunto subscribed, in order to promote the design of erecting one in this city, do promise to pay five pounds, New-York currency, each, on the first day of May next ensuing the date hereof; and ten shillings yearly, each, on every first day of May, for ever hereafter, to twelve trustees, to be chosen by the majority of us, or our assigns, annually out of the number of subscribers hereto, or their assigns; for which purpose we agree to meet constantly on the last Tuesday in April, in every year ensuing the date hereof, at the Exchange, in Broad-street, in this city, between the hours of eleven and twelve; which trustees, or the majority of them, are hereby empowered to dispose of the said money in purchasing such books as they shall think proper from time to time, and in procuring a house or room to deposit them in; to appoint a library keeper, and allow him a proper salary for his care and attendance of the said library; to regulate the terms on which the books belonging to the said library shall be lent, (those who are not subscribers being to pay such rates for the loan of books as the trustees shall appoint,) and to do every thing they shall judge necessary to erect, preserve, ornament and improve the said library, which they are to keep under the following regulations.

Ist. Every subscriber, or his assigns, shall have a right to take out one book at a time, depositing in cash, at least one third more than the value of it, with the library keeper, and to keep it for so long a time as the trustees, for the time being, shall appoint, to be proportioned as nearly as possible to the bulk of the volume; and in case he shall keep it longer, to pay for the use of the said book, after the expiration of the said time, according to the rates (to be settled by the trustees) to be paid by those who shall not be subscribers thereto. For this purpose, the books shall be valued by the trustees, and a catalogue of them, with the price of each book, be made and left in the hands of the library keeper.

IIIdly. Every subscriber may alienate or bequeath his right, as of any other chattel.

IIIIdly. No person shall have above one vote, though he should subscribe more than is above mentioned, or purchase several rights.

IVthly. Part of a subscription right shall not be regarded, nor entitle its owner to any privileges whatsoever.

Vthly. Every subscriber who refuses to pay the ten shillings yearly, shall forfeit his right and privileges in the said library; but if he, or any other in his name, pay the arrears with lawful interest from the several times of their becoming due, he or they shall be as fully restored to them upon such payment, as if such forfeiture had not been incurred.

* A copy of this document, in the form of a printed handbill, is preserved in the library, having been found among the papers of James De Peyster, Esq. of Jamaica, L. I., and presented by the late Dr. Wm. Hamersley, in 1804.

Vithly. The trustees shall serve gratis.

VIIthly. They may appoint a treasurer if they shall think proper, and make him a proper allowance for his trouble, not exceeding five per cent. on all the money he shall receive into his hands from time to time, for the use of the said library.

VIIIthly. No trustee shall be appointed treasurer.

IXthly. The election of trustees shall be by balloting, each putting the whole number he votes for upon one ballot.

Xthly. The trustees shall, if they think proper, admit any person to become a subscriber after the date hereof, upon payment of the like sum of five pounds, which is the original subscription money, and ten shillings per annum, from the first day of May next, till the time of his subscription.

XIthly. That the rights and privileges in the said library, in consequence of such subscription, and the loan of books to such as shall not subscribe hereto, shall not be confined to this city; but that every person residing in this province may become a subscriber, or have the loan of books in the manner and on the terms herein mentioned, or hereafter to be prescribed.

XIIthly. That regular accounts of the several sums received, either as subscriptions, or for the loan of books, and of the disbursements arising from the purchase of books, for erecting, enlarging, and repairing the said library, shall be exhibited to the subscribers hereto, or their assigns, at every annual meeting, on the last Tuesday in April, upon pain of the forfeiture of the rights and privileges of every trustee that shall be delinquent in this particular.

XIIIthly. That the trustees, for the time being, shall make such further rules and orders, for the better support of the said library, as to them, or the majority of them, shall seem meet; which rules and orders to be made by them, shall be subject to the confirmation or repeal of the subscribers hereto, or their assigns, at each annual meeting aforesaid.

XIVthly. That the majority of the subscribers hereto, or their assigns, at every annual meeting forever hereafter, shall, if they think proper, alter, correct, or repeal, all or any of the above rules and orders, or any other rules and orders hereafter to be made; and make such further and other rules and orders, as to them shall seem meet, and most conducive to the support and increase of the said library.

The titles are abridged in the Analytical Catalogue, but the initial word is the same in both; so that a reference from one to the other is easily made.

The paging of the Alphabetical Catalogue was commenced with the intention of adding a sheet of prefatory matter, but another arrangement was found preferable; hence the numbering begins with 9.

REMARKS.

THE last Catalogue of the Library was published in 1838. The collection has since been increased by a number of valuable donations and by many works, some purchased in this country and some imported from Europe.

The arrangement of this Supplement is the same as that in the last Catalogue, which has been found practically useful.

At the end of the Supplement are given the titles of the books presented to the Society by the late Francis B. Winthrop, Esq., which formed a considerable part of the Library of his ancestor, John Winthrop, an early Governor of Connecticut. A list of these books was printed in a former Catalogue; but as the titles required revision, it was omitted in that of 1838, owing to the fact that these rare and curious volumes remained packed up for safety during the period that elapsed between the removal of the Library from its former establishment in Nassau-street to its present edifice.
